A Lawyer's Guide to Hidden and Undocumented Google Search Secrets

8:00 a.m. Breakfast and Check-In

8:30 – 9:30 a.m.

1.0 General CLE Credit

Presented by: Carole Levitt, Esq. & Mark Rosch, Internet for Lawyers and CLEseminars.com

Just about everyone has a computer on their desk and access to the Internet. But if you've never taken a formal class to learn how to search effectively, then this seminar is for you! Carole Levitt and Mark Rosch, authors of The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet, and the ABA's Google for Lawyers (and six other ABA Internet research books), will show you some of the less-obvious features of the world's most popular search engine, how other lawyers are using them, and why you should be putting them to use in your practice. Don't be left behind in finding out how Google can reveal a gold mine of information that will assist you in meeting your investigative and legal research obligations.

Ethics and eDiscovery: Implementing Cost Effective Strategies to Avoid Being Sanctioned or Sued

9:45 – 10:45 a.m.

1.0 Ethics CLE Credit (Ethics/Trial Practice for GA)

Presented by: Stephanie Thompson, Starn O'Toole Marcus & Fisher, Honolulu, HI

"...attorney competence related to litigation generally requires, among other things, and at a minimum, a basic understanding of, and facility with, issues relating to eDiscovery, including the discovery of electronically stored information ("ESI")...See ABA Model Rules of Conduct for eDiscovery –

Courts expect attorneys to actively supervise and understand the management and production of electronically stored information ("ESI") from start to finish. Changes in the rules of civil procedure and professional conduct ascribe a duty on attorneys to understand and manage the collection and production of ESI, no matter how technical.

Ms. Thompson's presentation will identify the 3 common areas where lawyers and their firms fall short in their ethical duties in the eDiscovery process (as identified in recent case law and ethics opinions) and provide practical tips and tools for avoiding sanctions and costly mistakes.

Working with Military Clients: The Basics of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act

11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

1.0 Ethics CLE Credit

(General Credits for CA, HI, MT, SC and WY)

Presented by: Levi Hookano, Chief of Claims for the 25th Infantry Division at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii

BLUF, Oscar Tango Mike, High Speed/Low Drag. If you recognized these terms, chances are you are a veteran or have worked with them. If not, then this program is designed for you.

Working with military clients can be a challenge: we speak a different language, have a different culture, and have special laws carved out just for us. This program will address the basic protections of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA).

Designed to give servicemembers the peace of mind that legal issues at home will not distract them from their military duties, the SCRA provides servicemembers protections against default judgments, lease and contract disputes, and interest rate caps. Come and learn what issues to look for when working with a military client.

12:00 – 1:00 P.M. LUNCH PROVIDED

Surfing the Wave: Staying on Top of Ethical Issues in an Ever-Changing World

1:00 – 4:15 p.m.

3.0 Ethics CLE Credits (Ethics/Trial Practice for GA)

Presented by: Nelson Page, Alaska Bar Association

The pace of change in the practice of law is daunting. If you are not going to be swamped by the rapid evolution of the legal profession you need to stay focused. This CLE will discuss the ongoing evolution of legal ethics, including such issues as the changing nature of the law firm, the use of technology in the practice of law, and the ways in which modern communications can make or break a practice. Join us for a deep dive into how traditional ethical principles have adapted and changed in response to a new world.

Welcome Reception

6:30 – 8:30 p.m.

Sponsored by: Robson Forensic

The Welcome Reception provides an excellent opportunity to network, meet new people and get reacquainted with old friends. Light hors d'oeuvres will be served during the event. Must be at least 21 years of age to attend. No charge for CLE attendees and one guest.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13

Scientific Evidence: Getting and Staying on Top of the Ever-Evolving Worlds of Science and Admissibility Law

3:00 – 5:00 p.m.

2.0 General CLE Credits (Trial Practice for GA)

Presented by: Larry Cohen, Ph.D., J.D.

Successful lawyers cannot be content with a “black box” approach to scientific evidence that defers to the expert and hopes for the best or leaves it to competing experts to “fight it out.”

This pragmatic program is about (1) lawyers being proactive in learning what they need to know about the substance and method of the science they offer or challenge at trials, evidentiary hearings and motion practice and (2) tracking and putting to effective use the most recent rules and principles bearing on the admissibility of scientific evidence.

Attendees will learn about and see demonstrated deposition protocols for examining experts and formats for arguing admissibility positions in written and oral motion practice.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15

I'm from the Government and I'm here to Help: The Ethics of Representing (or Appearing Against) a Government Entity

10:00 – 11:00 a.m.

1.0 Ethics CLE Credit (Ethics/Trial Practice for GA)

Presented by: Nelson Page, Alaska Bar Association

Attorneys who work for a government entity must navigate a different thicket of ethical rules and restrictions that may seem foreign to private practitioners. This session will discuss how the ethical rules apply to lawyers who work for the government, and what an attorney should know before going forth on behalf of a private client in a government agency setting.

Model Rule 8.4 Misconduct Arising from Domestic Violence, Sexual Misconduct and Disparagement

11:15 a.m. – 12:15 p.m.

1.0 Ethics CLE Credit (General Credit for HI)

Presented by: Larry Cohen, Ph.D., J.D.

Lawyers as advocates for and defenders of clients are deeply involved in a representational way with the issues raised by the Me Too and like movements. At the same time, the legal profession itself continues to be confronted with instances of domestic violence, sexual misconduct and disparagement by its own members. This program will explore whether such actions will continue to be addressed in the future, as for the most part they have in the past, on a case by case basis or if there are larger implications for the how the profession conceives of itself, is seen by others, and deals with perpetrators individually and collectively within its own society, politic and culture.

12:15 P.M. LUNCH PROVIDED

The Psychology of Keeping Clients Happy

1:00 – 2:00 p.m.

1.0 Ethics CLE Credit (Professionalism for GA)
(General Credit for CA, HI, MT, SC and WY)

Presented by: Larry Cohen, Ph.D., J.D.

Accomplished lawyers know that their success depends on more than the substantive outcomes of their cases. Success depends as well, and maybe even more so, on client satisfaction with the course of the representation. What each client really wants and needs to feel satisfied is to some degree idiosyncratic to the individual client. But lawyers can set themselves up for success by being attentive and sensitive to what their clients really want and by taking actions likely to fulfill those wants. This program will explore, beyond case outcome, what it really means for a client to be happy and what lawyers can do to have happy clients during the course of and at the end of the representation.

A Lawyer's Guide to Advanced Google Searching

2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

1.0 General CLE Credit

Presented by: Carole Levitt, Esq. & Mark Rosch, Internet for Lawyers and CLEseminars.com

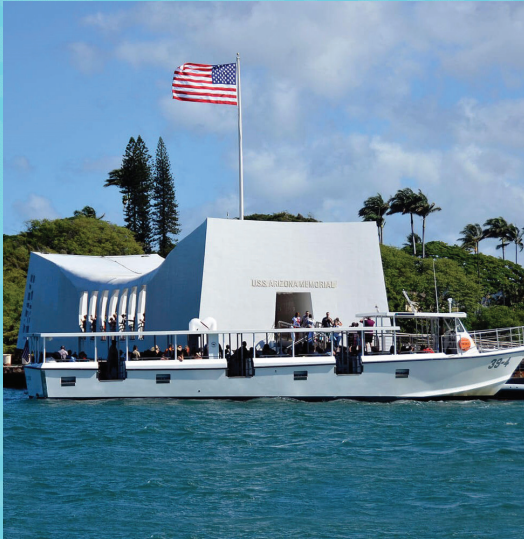

There's so much more to Google than the simple search box on the home page...if you know where to look. Carole Levitt and Mark Rosch will take you on a deep dive into the Google Advanced Search menu so you can quickly conduct factual and investigative research for your client matters. You will also explore some of Google's specialty databases to help you locate very specific types of information.
